Course Description

Prerequisite: SDEV 300. A hands-on study of programming secure applications in the cloud. The goal is to design and build applications in the cloud while implementing appropriate security policies. Topics include cloud computing models, risks and security challenges of programming in the cloud, and data security.

Course Introduction

Cloud computing continues to grow each year with more users and applications being developed for industry, government and academia. Protecting data and the applications on the cloud is of great importance to sustain the continued growth.

This course takes a detailed look at the various cloud models and uses tools and development kits to design and create secure code for the cloud. Over the course of eight weeks we will analyze risks, threat, and vulnerabilities in cloud computing, write secure code to interface with available cloud computing technologies and mitigate risks, threat, and vulnerabilities in cloud computing.

Course Outcomes

After completing this course, you should be able to:

- explain the characteristics of cloud computing, underlying data architecture, associated policies and regulations, and service models in order to design and implement secure cloud applications
- analyze the potential risks, threats, and vulnerabilities of a current cloud computing model to describe potential mitigations
- analyze and select available cloud authentication services to implement a secure identity management system that minimizes risk
- design, develop, implement, and document a secure application using cloud infrastructure and available software development kits

Participation

By registering for a Web-based course, you have made a commitment to participate in course conferences as well as other online activities. Participation for this course is defined as proactive discussion in weekly discussion activities. This requires you to actively reflect on weekly readings and to develop original ideas in your responses. You are expected to demonstrate critical thinking and your understanding of the content in the assigned readings as they relate to the issues identified in the conference discussion.

You are expected to respond to the main discussion topic(s) each week and read and respond to other student posts to contribute additional knowledge to the class. Note that your online conference participation counts significantly toward your final grade. Interacting and responding to discussion items earlier in the week as opposed to the end of the week is encouraged and rewarded.

When communicating with others in this class always work to be respectful.

The rubric used to grade your online participation is shown below:

Criteria	Exceeds (5 points)	Meets (3-4 points)	Does not Meet (0-2 points)
Completeness of Submission	Responses thoroughly addressed all parts of the discussion question adding depth to the overall conversation. Responses were clear and of the highest quality demonstrating mastery of writing. References were properly cited.	Responses addressed some of the question but additional clarification and details would have strengthened the discussion. Responses were well organized with rare spelling or grammar distractions. References were properly cited.	No responses or responses were incorrect, or missing significant details. No responses or responses were poorly written, disorganized with many spelling and grammatical errors.
Submitted on time	Initial responses submitted at least 3 days before the due date.	Initial responses submitted on or within 2 days before the due date.	No responses or responses submitted after the due date.
Interaction with Others	Responded to student posts providing additional contributions clearly supporting learning and successful accomplishment of assignments and classroom activities.	Responded to student posts providing additional contributions.	No responses to other students or responses to other students do not provide additional insight and are not substantive.

PyLint Scoring

This is a Secure Software Programming class at the 400-level. You must submit code that is PEP8 compliant as part of writing secure code that follows safe coding practices. Grading of code will include a Pylint scan. You must receive an 80% or greater in Pylint on your code (8/10). You will lose -10pts for poorly coded Pylint scores (i.e. scores less than 8/10). There are announcements that detail how to Pylint your code, if you are out of practice from SDEV300.

Late Assignments

Late assignments will only be accepted for valid and verifiable reasons and only if a request was made to the instructor at least one full day before the due date of the assignment.

Discussion forums cannot be made up. My comparison would someone coming into a physical room the day after class and speaking to an empty room. To earn discussion credit and benefit from our discussions and insights, you must participate during the current week.

Assignments/Labs submitted after the due date (even 1 second) but less than 24hrs will receive a 5% grade deduction. Assignments/Labs within 48hrs will receive a 15% grade deduction. Work submitted 48hrs past the original due date will not be accepted and will receive a zero.

No assignment submissions can be accepted after the end of the term, which for this session is July 11, 2023 11:59 PM ET

Extra Credit

There are no extra credit opportunities for the class.

Content for Submissions

All Labs that require code (which is everything but the Lab 0) (Python, JSON, CSV data for loading, etc) - should include the the submission of the code files (i.e. the Python, JSON, CSV, etc). You must include everything required to run your lab. Example - if you were providing the lab to a "3rd party" - they should be able to load the "seeding" data, execute the lab, and get the same results as you documented within your Lab writeup. You cannot just submit a "picture"/"screen grab" of the code - you must submit the actual ASCII textual file - with the code.

Submission Format for Labs

Submit your assignments as a ZIP file or as individual files. A ZIP containing all of the assignment/lab data is the preferred format. The assignments/labs will state in the assignment/lab requirements to ZIP them up or you can submit the files individually. Do not submit a RAR, TAR, GZ, BZ2, or any other compressed format. The only format of compressed submission accepted for grading is ZIP. Assignments submitted in other compressed formats other than ZIP cannot be graded.

Project Descriptions

Descriptions and details for all homework and projects are listed in the assignments area found in the Navigation bar under assignments and in the content area.

Academic Policies

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

University of Maryland Global Campus (UMGC) has adopted a Philosophy of Academic Integrity \(https://www.umgc.edu/current-students/learning-resources/academic-integrity/philosophy\) to guide the university's commitment to a culture of academic integrity.  UMGC does not award the grade of D in graduate courses.

GRADE ROUNDING

Scores to individual assignments are calculated based on rubrics in the class and are not rounded to the whole point. The final grade for the course is determined by weighted average and will be rounded to the nearest whole point using mathematical rule (grades with .5 and above to be rounded to the next whole point).

EXTRA CREDIT

Assignments are designed to enable students to achieve course objectives and succeed in the program. In the interest of equity and fairness, there will be no extra credit opportunities. All assignments are identified in the syllabus.

COURSE EVALUATION SURVEY

UMGC values its students' feedback. You will be asked to complete an online evaluation toward the end of the term. The primary purpose of this evaluation process is to assess the effectiveness of classroom instruction in order to provide the best learning experience possible and make continuous improvements to every class. Responses are kept confidential. Please take full advantage of this opportunity to provide your feedback.
